Nifty: 24324

Technical Outlook

Day that was...

Equity benchmarks witnessed minor profit booking after recording fresh all time high of 24461. Nifty declined 109 points or 0.45% to settle the session at 24324. Market breadth turned negative with A/D ratio of 1:1.9 as small cap index relatively underperformed the benchmark. Sectorally, auto, IT, metal underwent profit booking while pharma, FMCG relatively outperformed

Technical Outlook:

- The index witnessed profit booking after recording fresh All Time High of 24461. However, supportive efforts from 10 days EMA helped index to recover some of its initial losses. As a result, daily price action formed a bear candle with lower shadow, highlighting elevated volatility
- The buying demand from elevated support base of 10 days EMA (which has been held since election result low) highlights inherent strength that bodes well for continuation of upward momentum towards our earmarked target of 24700 by July 2024. However, traders should note that, past five week's sharp up move of 15% has hauled weekly stochastic oscillator in overbought territory (placed at 95). Thus, possibility of temporary breather at higher levels cannot be ruled out ahead of budget coupled with onset of Q1FY25 earning season
- Further, only a decisive close below 10 days EMA would lead to temporary pause in ongoing upward momentum. However, such breather should not be construed as negative instead capitalized it as buying opportunity as key support is placed at 23700. Our positive bias is further validated by following observations:
- A) The formation of higher peak and trough supported by sturdy market breadth signifies inherent strength (currently 82% of stocks trading above 50 days EMA
- B) Global set up continues to remain strong footing and barring minor retracements does not flag bigger volatility
- Structurally, the elongation of rallies followed by shallow retracement signifies buying at elevated support base that makes us revise support base at 23700 as it is 20 days EMA coincided with 61.8% retracement of past two weeks up move 23350-24401

Nifty Bank: 52189

Technical Outlook

Day that was:

Nifty Bank index declined on Wednesday amid further profit taking. Index closed 380 points or 0.17% higher at 52568

Technical Outlook:

- The index remained under pressure through the session and failed to post any meaningful recovery resulting in a bear candle which closed below 10-day ema for first time post election outcome. Over past eight sessions, index has consolidated in a broad range of 52000-53500 while retracing sharp rally
- Going forward, holding immediate support and last week low of 52000 would extend ongoing consolidation while a decisive breach of 52000 would be a sing of extended profit taking
- PSU banking stocks have witnessed extended profit taking/consolidation over few weeks and expected to form a higher bottom formation over next few sessions
- Meanwhile, we revise short term support to last week's low of 52000 which also coincide with rising 10-day ema that has been held since election outcome over past nineteen sessions
- Price structure: We observe that index is maintaining its higher high-low formation on multiple time frames and remain in steady uptrend and short term declines are attracting buying support. Hence consolidation in the short term will help index to undergo higher base formation and work out of overbought readings

Candlesticks Glossary

Candlestick patterns describe the market sentiment for the specified period. Some of the formations suggest reversal of sentiment (trend) and, therefore, are important for a chart reader. By themselves, the patterns do not carry any price target but only an indication of change in market behaviour. More importance needs to be given to the placement of the pattern within larger trend

Morning Star: Potential bottom reversal pattern made of three candle lines. The first sizeable black candle reflects a market in which the bears are in complete charge. The next candle line--the small real body--shows a slight diminution of the bearish force. The white candle that makes up the last part of the morning star visually displays the bulls are gaining the upper hand. Lowest low amongst three candles becomes technical support

Bullish Engulfing Line: A potential bottom reversal pattern. This pattern typically appears at the culmination of a decline or downtrend. The market falls, and a black candle forms (ideally a small black candle). Next, a white real body wraps around the prior session's black body. Low of the pattern becomes short term support for prices

Piercing Line: Potential bottom reversal pattern. A black body forms in the downtrend. The market continues moving south on the next session's open but that session culminates in a white real body that closes (e.g. pierces) than half way or more into the prior black body. Lowest low between two candles is referred to as technical support for prices

Hammer: A candlestick line which, during a downtrend, has a very long lower shadow and small real body (black or white) at the top end of the session's range. There should be no, or a very small, upper shadow. Pattern suggests buying support during declines and needs confirmation in terms of sustainability of prices above head of the Hammer in following session

Evening Star: Potential Top reversal pattern made of three candle lines. Comparable with a traffic signal. First white candle reflects a market in bullish trend. The next candle line--the small real body—warns waning momentum. The black candle that completes the evening star visually exhibits that prior up trend has stopped or reversed

Bearish Engulfing Line: Potential top reversal signal. This two candlestick pattern emerges during a rally. A black candle real body wraps around a white real body (classically a small white candle) Highest high between two candles becomes resistance level for prices for future reference

Dark Cloud cover: A dark cloud cover forms a top reversal pattern. The first session should be a strong, white real body. The second session's price opens over the prior session's high (or above the prior session's close). By the end of the second session, it closes near the low of the session and should fall well into the prior session's white body. Pattern suggests that market has a poor chance of rising immediately

Shooting Star: A single candlestick line during a rally in which there is a small real body (white or black) at the bottom end of the session's range and a very long upper shadow. The candle line should also have little or no lower shadow. Pattern suggest the trouble for prices overhead

Continuation Patterns: Other than widely known Candlestick reversal patterns discussed above, there are numerous patterns mentioned in literature on Candlestick which describe the continuation of existing sentiments i.e. bullish or bearish. We have refrained from mentioning names of these patterns to avoid confusion. However, the remark Continuation Pattern refers to bullish or bearish candlestick patterns which suggest continuation of existing trend
